17 Years Old

"I just want someone I can trust and talk to about things"
-Damien

Damien is a kind and friendly 17-year-old who loves drawing, listening to music, playing video games, playing basketball and watching football. He loves the Eagles football team. Damien has completed high school and is applying for jobs for the first time. His goal is to work, learn to become independent and support himself but he would love to have someone he can trust to guide him, listen, and share in his journey with him. He looks forward to the day when he can have a family to share the holidays with or go on a family vacation.

Damien would love to be adopted into a loving and encouraging family who will provide him an unwavering and consistent anchor in life.
