Damion is an outgoing and creative 15-year-old young man with a great sense of humor and bubbly personality. Damion enjoys reading, playing basketball & video games. Damion also enjoys music and art. He loves swimming. He enjoys school and is proud of his good grades. His favorite subject is Math. His ideal day would be spent swimming, eating watermelon, and hanging out with a family who cares about him. He hopes to one day visit the beach for the first time with a family.

Damion does well with routine & structure and a firm, nurturing parenting style. A family would need to be educated in how trauma, separation and loss can impact a youth's development. Damion would love to have a family to accept, support, and encourage him!
