"I love to travel!"

Hi! I'm Kylie. I'm a laid-back kind of girl and prefer to just go with the flow. I'm not outdoorsy so hiking and camping aren't my thing. I like watching comedies, sometimes action movies. I do not like scary movies. I love to travel! Especially to the beach. I would really love to go to Los Angeles. I want to see the cars, shops, and planes that I see on tv and in movies. I like to shop for clothes and do arts and crafts. I love to spend time with family and friends. I'm pretty neat and like to keep things in my room neat. If I see something out of place somewhere I'll probably fix it. I can sometimes be emotional and when I get upset it helps when someone will talk calmly with me. Listening to music and/or taking time away from a situation are the best ways for me to calm down. But generally, I prefer to be around other people and not alone.

I'm pretty outgoing and so I would like the same in a family. I would like parents who respect my boundaries. I want to have family game nights and to take fun trips because spending time together as a family is important to me. Church is a big part of my life and I enjoy attending every week. I would prefer a family who looks like me and to have older siblings. I don't always get along with younger kids so having younger siblings isn't for me. I have some family I'm close with and it is important to me to maintain those relationships. I do not like yelling. If I'm in trouble yelling will just make everything worse.
